Recovery Story:

I was working at a treatment center. Two ladies came in at the very same time. They stayed in observation the same amount of time. They were brought over to my lodge, and because they were getting along so well, put in same room together. They both had become very supportive of each other's recovery. Family week had now started. One said to the other one, "It's my birthday today!" The other one said, "It's my birthday today also!" One said to the other, "Where were you born?" The other one tells her the town. "Me too." The one says, "What hospital were you born at?" The other lady says, "Me too." They both come running into my office, laughing, and crying. They both proceed to tell me the coincidence that they just found out. I said, "Your Guardian Angels are standing behind you are doing high fives!! As it turns out; they were not only born in the same hospital the same day. It was family week as I said. Their Mothers were roommates in the same room! They brought pictures of all of them together; Mothers and babies!! So many miracles we get to see with the clear eyes of recovery.
